OBITUARY.

Be still prepared for death and death of life shall thereby be the sweeter.—Shakespeare

Seneca Valentine was born in Marathon, Courtland Co., New York, Nov. 1, 1848, and died at his home in Yale on Sept. 29, 1914.

He was married to Celia Terpening in 1872, and to this union two children were born, Norman E. Valentine, who died Aug. 3, 1888, and Mrs. Louis Broadway, of Brown City.

In 1882 he moved his family to Goodland, Mich., where they lived for 20 years, moving to Brockway township in 1902. About five years ago Mr. Valentine bought the Riverside Fruit Farm, south of Yale, but on account of failing health traded during the last summer for the Lambert Jones property on First street, at which place he died.

Always jovial and friendly, a good husband, a kind father, and a man greatly respected in the community is the record he leaves behind.

The funeral services were held in the M. E. church Monday at 10:30 o'clock a. m., Rev. Waldren Geach officiating. Interment at Inlay City.

We desire to express our sincere thanks to those who so kindly assisted during the sickness and after the death of our husband and father.

Lansing Sponenburgh died on Tuesday, Sept. 29, 1914, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Lew Zavitz, St. Johns, aged 72 years. Cause of death paralytic stroke. He was engaged painting the roof of his son-in-law's house when he fell from the ladder. Never gained consciousness. The body was brought to Yale today (Thursday) and the funeral held from the M. E. church, Rev. Waldren Geach officiating. Burial in Elmwood cemetery.

Deceased was born in Herkimer Co., New York, Sept. 28, 1842, where he lived two years, then moved with his parents to Brownsville, Ont. Resided there until 1877, when he came to Brockway township and settled on the 90-acre farm now owned by Gus Smith. Was married in 1862 to Ellen Sypher in Ontario. Mrs. Sponenburgh died Aug. 12, 1892. Four children were born to them, Norman B., of Detroit; Mary, Mrs. Lew Zavitz, of St. Johns; Sophia, Mrs. J. H. Young, Picton, Ont.; Herman, deceased.

Avoid Sedative Cough Medicines.
If you want to contribute directly to the occurrence of capillary bronchitis and pneumonia use cough medicines that contain codine, morphine, heroin and other sedatives when you have a cough or cold. An expectorant like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is what is needed. That cleans out the culture beds or breeding places for the germs of pneumonia and other germ diseases. That is why pneumonia never results from a cold when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used. It has a world wide reputation for its cures. It contains no morphine or other sedative. "The Square Deal."

Presbyterian Church, Sunday Evening September 27th

After reading from the 10th Chapter of Acts and giving his text "God is no respecter of persons," Mr. Bradfield said in part, "this truth of revelation has been before the world for ages, but in the face of human selfishness has made slow progress. Human prejudice and ignorance have ever tried to read into revelation their desires.

"Devout men have not thought it a sin to represent God as an impartial Deity. The man of whom we just read, the great apostle, was very sincere in thinking that his own nation were the exclusively, special objects of divine solicitation and this in the face of the personal example and teaching of Jesus Christ.

"A later apostle than he, very devout, intensely religious, believed it an unclean thing to rub shoulders with the mass of men in the market place. The Gospel could not win men under such a handicap and a vision, unusual, yet evidently supernatural in its revelation, was needed to give right views, with the result that our text was the expression of a new evangel of liberty. 'God is no respecter of persons.' The lesson was not learned for all followers of Christ?

"It is conceded to be a good theme for a sermon or lecture but hardly adaptable to industrial, social, civic and daily discussed religious matters.

"If a man works for the person I wish him to, takes the wage I think he ought to have, labors the hours suited to my fancy, then I treat him fairly; if not he may well be on guard.

"If a man prays as I think he ought to pray, where I advise, when I approve, conducting his worship after my ideas, then I treat him fairly, but should he differ in any detail, trivial or important, I will not concede that even God will bless his prayer.

Endeavoring, you see, to read into God's Character that He is a respecter of persons.

"We need to accept and make this truth the rule of our lives if we have not done so.

"Ignorance of and hospitality towards this great truth, all becomes a follower of Jesus Christ who so loved all men that he became a sacrifice to save them. We will, then, strive to work this truth out in the common tasks of life, to the welfare of men and the glory of God, who is no respecter of persons."

Rally Day.

This day was observed last Sunday very pleasantly and successfully at the Presbyterian church. Bunting and flags were used for decoration very artistically and many bouquets of fall flowers completed the pretty effect.

The excellent program was rendered at the Sunday school hour and was much enjoyed by the many present.

In the evening a large congregation gathered to hear Rev. Bradfield preach. The music by the full choir was very good and was further added to by the singing of two sacred solos by Mr. Lambert, traveling salesman for the Douglas Shoe Co., who happened to be in town over Sunday. He has a rare good voice, and both the choir and congregation felt that it was a treat to hear him.

We give a synopsis of Rev. Bradfield's sermon for the evening. It was an excellent discourse leading along God's love for His children in that "Christ is no respecter of persons."

M'CLURE—MOORE

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan McClure at high noon Sept. 23, 1914, under an arch when their daughter Miss Lora M. was united in marriage to Mr. Arthur E. Moore by Rev. Abraham Osborn of Melvin. Miss Ethel Kipp assisted the bride and Mr. Leo Heideman was groomsmen. After congratulations a four course dinner was served to about fifty guests.

The bride was dressed in Alice blue crepe de chene and the bridesmaid wore blue. The travelling gown of the bride was a seal brown suit and a black velvet hat.

The bride's present to the bridesmaid was a gold bar pin and the groom's present to the groomsmen was a pair of gold cuff links.

Those present from a distance were J. Frostie and Mrs. Niles, Crosswell, Mrs. Routely, Port Huron, Mrs. Holden and daughter of Bad Axe, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Farr, Sandusky, Mrs. Wm. Holland, Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Gardner, Yale.

A number of valuable presents were received. Mr. and Mrs. Moore left on a short honeymoon trip and on their return will reside in Fremont township. The best of good wishes of their many friends and neighbors go with them through life.

JORDAN—HILLMAN

Married in Yale at the home of Geo. Jordan on Tuesday, October 19, 1914, Mr. John E. Hillman of Flynn township and Miss Martha Jordan of Yale, by Rev. J. S. Wood. Albert S. Hayes was best man and Miss Isla M. Hayes, bridesmaid. Mr. and Mrs. Hillman went to Bridgetown, Ont., for a short wedding trip, and on their return will make their home on the groom's farm in Flynn township. Foot Ball Game

The first foot ball game of the season was played at Brown City on Friday of last week and resulted in a score of 33 to 7 in favor of Yale.

Coach Ryan's bunch of warriors journeyed to Brown City that day and returned with scalps hanging to their belts. For the amount of practice the boys have had they put up a good exhibition of ball. Brown City has a fast team but lacked experience. The big ground gainers were Capt. Kennedy who frequently made 30 or 40 yards on forward passes. Hallman, Muir and full back Sweet. Brown City's only score came in the third quarter on a fumble pass. Quarter back Vanneest running 50 yards for a touchdown. For Yale Hallman made two touch downs, Muir 2 and Sweet 1. Beavis as a quarter back handled the team like an old veteran while all the line men were in the game at all times. Following is the line up:

Kennedy, r e
Lawson, r e
Clyne, r g
Reid, e
Merrill, l g
F. Beadle, l t
Umphrey, l e
Beavis, F. L. Beadle, g b

Autumn and Winter Meetings

The St. Clair County Medical association has planned an excellent program for the series of autumn and winter meetings. The first meeting will be held Oct. 2 and Dr. Wagners of Grand Rapids, who is secretary of the state medical society and editor of the Michigan State Medical Journal will read a paper on "Skull Fractures." The guest of honor at the November meeting will be Channing W. Barrett of Chicago.

The details of the December meeting have not been completed, but it will be of the same high order as the October and November meetings. It is the purpose of the society to have meetings so attractive that the profession will feel that they cannot afford to miss them. The details of each meeting including the subject and speaker will be published later. The profession of the surrounding territory are also invited to attend these meetings.—Port Huron Times-Herald.

BUY THE LITTLE THINGS YOU NEED

There are probably many little things in the hardware line that you have felt in urgent need of many times; but, like the little leak in the roof, they are forgotten until 'it rains'.

Perhaps it is frequently a hammer, tack-puller, chisel, wrench, or some cooking utensil—some odd piece—which your wife needs sorely at times when you have no opportunity to get it for her.

Take advantage of the slack time of the winter months to anticipate these needs, and subby them from our complete stock.
